1.0 Introduction

This document is meant to briefly summarize the history of the Boy Scouts of America Troop 465 from 1963 to 2018. The troop was founded in June, 1963 by the Hickory Flat Elementary School Parents and Teachers Association (PTA) with five scouts, John W. Ballard, Buddy J. Callahan, Myron G. Croft, George W. McClure, and David J. Sisson, and seven adult leaders, SM James R. Johnson, SA David Callahan, EO/CC Eugene Lawson, CR Raleigh McClure, MC Charlie Mann, MC Carl McGaha, and MC Jack Payne. See Figures 4A and 4B for the 1963 Charter Roster.

Charter member John Ballard became an Assistant Scoutmaster when he returned from active Army service. He has been with the troop since day one and is a wealth of information, skills, and a most valued asset to the troop. The annual re-chartering rosters were used to list the number of scouts and adults and their highest ranks and positions.

We know this is not a fully accurate accounting, since every year there are several boys who join on school night and for some reason do not stay until the next re-charter, then do not show up on any list. This is also true for ranks. A scout attains a rank and it shows up on the re-charter. He may attain additional rank(s) but then drops out. Also note for the years 2006, 2007, 2008, 2013, 2014, 2015, and 2016, the rosters did not list the scout ranks, so some ranks may be listed incorrectly in this listing in section 17.

Note ('yr) example ('73) after a name denotes year the scout became a Troop 465 Eagle Scout.

1.1 Troop 465 Highlights

The following are just a few of the Troop 465 Highlights.

- John Ballard, a charter Scout member, and an Assistant Scoutmaster has been with the Troop for the entire history to date.
- 98 Scouts have been awarded the Rank of Eagle. This number represents 15.01% of Scouts ever registered with the troop, well above the national average of 5%.
- 11 lives have been documented as having been saved by Troop members.
- Scout Clay Limbaugh ('91) became the first to be an Assistant Scoutmaster, then Scoutmaster.
- 91 have participated as Assistant Scoutmasters, of which 51 who were former Scouts in the troop and 11 of the 51 are still active in the troop today.
- 163 local residents have participated as Committee Members.
- Registered Adult participation with Troop 465 totals over 1,379 years!
- It should be mentioned, ours was the second Troop 465. It was first chartered to Antioch Christian Church in the late 1950's. Big Springs Church then chartered an Explorer Post and many older members of the Troop left 465 and joined Post 601. The church carried the charter to Hickory Flat School PTA. HFS finally found a Scoutmaster, Bob Johnson, enough adults to form a committee, and re-chartered Troop 465 in 1963. To my knowledge no former Antioch members joined Hickory Flat 465.

2.0 Sponsoring Institutions

The troop was chartered, in June 1963, to the Hickory Flat Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association. Mr. George Lingefelt was the Chairman of the Hickory Flay School Trustees, Hickory Flat School is on the northwest corner of the intersection at East Cherokee Drive and Hickory Road. The Troop was not the original Troop 465 which was chartered by the Antioch Christion Church which had disbanded before our Troop was formed. See Figure 2A for a photo of Hickory Flat Elementary School.

In 1985 the charter was transferred to the Hickory Flat United Methodist Church Men's club. The Hickory Flat United Methodist Church was located across from Hickory Flat Elementary School, where the Hickory Flat Library now stands. (See Figure 2B for a photo Hickory Flat United Methodist Church). In 1992 the church moved two miles north on East Cherokee Drive.

In 1997, 465 Alumni, Inc., also known as Friends of Troop 465, a non-profit organization, was created with the express mission of providing support and sponsorship specifically for Troop 465. The Alumni chartered the troop and provided a home at 5742 East Cherokee Drive, hopefully in perpetuity. The compound is called the George and Nora Lingefelt Scouting Center. (See Table 2 for a list of sponsors and meeting places).

2.1. 465 Alumni, Inc. Sponsor

The troop sponsor, officially known as the Charter Organization, plays a very important role in any Scout troop. The sponsor is granted a charter by the Boy Scouts of America and "owns" the troop. The troop sponsor approves and selects the troop committee, the Scoutmaster, assistant Scoutmasters, and all troop leaders. Troop 465 is chartered by 465 Alumni Inc., a 501(c)3 non-profit corporation created by alumni of Troop 465, whose mission is to promote Scouting in the local community.

Visit the www.troop465.org webpage, Support Troop 465 to find ways you can help 465 Alumni Inc. support Troop 465 and its mission to deliver the promise of Scouting to our community.

465 Alumni, Inc. Mission Statement

Whereas; Boy Scout Troop 465, under the leadership of Scoutmaster George Lingefelt, has, over the past 30 years, achieved a high degree of recognition in the community as well as in the Atlanta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, of its abilities in the administration of a Boy Scout Troop and,

Whereas; the core philosophy employed over the years Troop 465 was derived by Mr. Lingefelt from The Scoutmasters Handbook, Sixth Edition, 1972, it is hereby agreed that the philosophies having been used with success in the operation of Troop 465 over the past 30 years shall be extended in perpetuity.

A partial listing of the philosophies as written in The Scoutmasters Handbook as listed above includes:

1. A good Scoutmaster works from this base: never do anything for a boy that the boy can do for himself.
2. A Scoutmaster controls, but does not command. He calls the signals but is rarely up front. A Scoutmaster is more like a coach than a commander. His work is done before the action takes place. A good Scoutmaster works himself into the background and the boy leaders into the foreground. He spends more time training boys than doing their work.
3. A Scoutmaster's goal should be training future leaders by giving the opportunity to lead, then molding and guiding that leadership.

465 Alumni, Inc. Creed

As an adult member of BSA Troop 465, I affirm a belief in God, I acknowledge that the scouting movement is non-sectarian and requires a duty to God.

I affirm and agree to conduct my life by adhering to the scout oath and law as all scouts are expected to do.

I agree to conduct the scouting program according to our sponsor's policies and guidelines as well as those of the Boy Scouts of America.

I hereby agree to require that each scout I counsel in rank advancement or merit badge achievement specifically follow each requirement of the rank or badge exactly as the requirement are written.

I believe and affirm that as an adult member of Troop 465, my purpose is to help build character in boys and support my Troop. Therefore, I shall set an example by performing correctly the duties I owe to God, my Country, my family, my neighbors and myself.

History

The Chartered Organization, plays a very important role in any Scout troop. The CO is granted a charter by the Boy Scouts of America and "owns" the troop. The troop sponsor approves and selects the troop committee, the Scoutmaster, assistant Scoutmasters, and all troop leaders. One can see if there was ever a divide between the troop sponsor and its Scout troop, it could spell disaster.

In 1996, Troop 465 avoided such a disaster by the forming of 465 Alumni, Inc. Prior to this time, it had been the dream of many "alumni" of Troop 465 to be associated with a troop sponsor that fully understood its history and philosophies.

On December 3, 1996, through the efforts of attorney Jim Turner ('73) and the Board of Directors, 465 Alumni, Inc. was created as a non-profit corporation. The mission statement formed by the charter members of 465 Alumni, Inc. specifically identifies the methods that George Lingefelt employed during his 35 years as Scoutmaster of Troop 465.

Big Springs United Methodist Church donated a building to the troop and we moved it onto three acres once occupied by the original Avery Elementary School. This site is now owned by 465 Alumni, Inc. This building, the George and Nora Lingefelt Scouting Center, serves as the scout hut for Troop 465. Many friends of the Troop have participated in bringing the Scout hut and grounds to their present condition. To ensure the Troop 465 legacy continues, please download and complete a 465 Alumni Inc. Membership Application.

3.0 Meeting Places/ Scout Huts

During the Troop's lifetime, it has had 5 different, regular, meeting places. The Troop first held meetings at the Hickory Flat Elementary School cafeteria from 1963 until 1985, with the exception of a short period of 1969 when the Troop met at a building behind the house at 6649 Vaughn road. In 1985 the Troop moved to what was known as the Hickory Flat Courthouse, from its use as a voting precinct. It was formerly a small, two room feed store located on the northeast corner of the intersection of East Cherokee Drive and State Highway 140. In June of 1990 the Troop, for reasons of better parking and Scout safety, moved to the Union Hill Community Center, formerly the Union Hill School (1925 to 1958), located on A. J. Land road.

In 1997, through the generous and exhaustive effort of current and past members, parents, grandparents, and friends of the Troop, 465 Alumni, Inc. was able to procure 3 acres, formerly the old Avery School site. A building was donated by Big Springs Methodist Church and moved on-site. The basement was dug by Assistant Scoutmaster Jack Mitchell (Troop 465 Eagle Scout '73) and the foundation laid underneath. Scout father, David Butler, donated supplies and labor crews to build the basement walls, a front deck, a rear staircase, and three sidewalks.

Upon completion of the remodeling in 1998 the Troop began meeting at the George and Nora Lingefelt Scouting Center located at 5742 East Cherokee Road. The facility, on over 3 acres, is occupied by the Hans Priegel pavilion, picnic tables, storage buildings, parking, Dobson Family Campground, John Ballard Campfire Ring, a 50' rifle range, and the Eagle Walk flag pole plaza.

The plaza was designed by John Ballard (see Figure 3.5.F) for the original design drawing). After the concrete footing was laid Jeremy Dobson (Eagle '99) used his skill to lay out the Fleur de Lis. John Ballard and two close friends, Demetrios Pettas (a brick and stone mason) and George Petrokopolus (a restaurant owner) laid all the brick work then installed the engraved Eagle bricks of all the current Eagles, along with all the blank bricks for future Eagles. Neither man accepted any payment. The plaza was named Eagle Walk at the request of W.J. (Bill) Jarrard (CC '67) the father of Billy Jarrard ('68), for whom the plaza was dedicated. Bill Jarrard contributed the money pay for the bricks and the flag pole. Jack Mitchell ('73) and John Ballard installed the flag pole.

See Figures 3.1 to 3.5 for pictures of the meeting places.

Boy Scouts honor scout's memory, Eagle Scouts

By Carla Barnes
Cherokee Tribune Staff Writer

The Boy Scouts of America law states that a scout is a friend to all and a brother to all other scouts.

Boy Scout Troop 465 of Hickory Flat will prove their loyalty to this phrase by memorializing one of their brothers and honoring their fraternity of Eagle Scouts in a special way.

Boy Scout Troop 465 alumni and troop members will hold "A Gathering of Eagles" at 2 p.m. Saturday at the troop's Scout Hut on East Cherokee Drive in Hickory Flat.

The ceremony will begin at 3 p.m. and include the dedication of the newly constructed Eagle Walk honoring all the Eagle Scouts in the troop's history and the memory of the late Billy Jarrard of Hickory Flat. A reception will follow. Special guests from the Atlanta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be in attendance and the public is invited to attend.

There are 41 Eagle Scouts recognized on the walk with room for more who attain the honor.

"We have places here for 200 more names," Scout Master George Lingefelt of Modesta said. Lingefelt's son, Mike, was the first to reach the Eagle Scout ranking in the troop in 1967.

The Eagle Scout rank is the highest advancement rank in the scouting program. To achieve it, a scout must fulfill requirements in the areas of leadership, service and outdoor skills. Only about 4 percent of all Boy Scouts make it to the Eagle level. Troop 465 has exceeded the national average with 8.36 percent succeeding.

The troop started with five scouts in 1963. Now the troop has 29 scouts ages 11 to 17, one scout master, 20 assistant scout masters, 11 committee members and six alumni board of directors.

Billy, the son of Bill and Barbara Jarrard of Hickory Flat, was an Eagle Scout in the troop who died in a car accident on Highway 140 in 1979. A graduate of Cherokee High School, he was an outgoing young man who was finishing up his last semester at the University of Georgia when he passed away. He was pursuing a degree in psychology.

"He was an outstanding young man," Lingefelt said.

Lingefelt said Billy was a born leader who had the ability to organize people and get the job done.

"He knew how to get somebody else to do the work," he said with a laugh.

After Billy's death, the troop set up a memorial fund that sat untouched for many years. The fund originally was designed to help underprivileged scouts, but as such requests were made, the troop covered the expenses out of their budget and own pockets.

Bill Jarrard had the idea to create an Eagle Walk after visiting one at the Birmingham, Ala., Boy Scout Council office. Each Eagle Scout in the Alabama council was honored with a brick engraved with his name and the year he became an Eagle Scout.

"I was just so impressed by that," Jarrard said. Working closely with Lingefelt, the two crafted their own version of the walk. The project took about a year.

The memorial design is a fleur-de-lis, a symbol of the Boy Scouts, with bricks engraved with names and years of each Eagle Scout. It was designed by Jeremy Dobson of Ball Ground, who worked on it with Assistant Scout Masters John Ballard of Canton and Jack Mitchell of Canton. Mitchell and his son, Justin, are the only father and son who both received their Eagle rank from the troop.

The completed walk is quite a sight for the Jarrards.

"I thought it was unbelievably nice. There is no way to describe it. The thing I'm so proud of is them taking enough time and effort to make this honor for Billy," Jarrard said. "He loved this troop."

Jarrard said he hopes the walk will encourage the young men of the troop to achieve the Eagle Scout rank.

"This is a tremendous incentive for the boys in the troop to get their name on that walk," Jarrard said. "This will honor their name forever."

A special ceremony at the event will include the raising of an American flag from World War I which was presented to the Jarrard family in 1996 by the government to honor the life of Bill Jarrard's father, B.H. Jarrard of Tate. B.H. Jarrard became a Scout Master at the age of 22, which firmly planted his son in scouting early in his life.

Jarrard said he never questioned if he would become an Eagle Scout.

"You know the old saying, once an Eagle, always an Eagle. It is something I grow prouder of every day," Jarrard said.

5.0 Adult Leaders

The troop has many adult leaders. When asked about this Scoutmaster Emeritus, George Lingefelt says, "...you have to grow your own, people will help when you ask them; they will not just show up on their own, but most will help when asked". Whether they have scouting skills, or not, their services can be used with telephone callout, court of honor preparation, transportation, or some other talent.

Scoutmaster George Lingefelt also made the following quotes:

"Have a learning experience and have a good time."

"Never do for a boy what a boy can do for himself."

"...Boy run troop"

The Troop's adult leaders have over 1,379 years of Adult Scouting leadership in Troop 465.

Table 5 lists the Executive Officers, Institution Heads, Committee Chairman, and Scoutmasters for the troop for each of the years.

5.1. Executive Officers, Institution Head, Committee Chairman and Committee.

The troop has had 22 Executive officers, 14 Institution Heads/Charter Representatives, 29 Committee Chairman's, and 98 Committee members.

5.2. Scoutmasters

There have only been seven Scoutmasters in the troop since its first charter in 1963. The first was James R. “Bob” Johnson

He was followed by David Callahan from 1964 through 1966.

In 1967 George Lingefelt (see Figure 5.3.C) became the third Scoutmaster for the troop and held the position through 2001. Under George Lingefelt’s leadership the troop became strong and its reputation grew. George Lingefelt received the Silver Beaver Award (see Figure 8) in 1975 and completed Wood Badge in 1994. George Lingefelt also was awarded Scoutmaster Emeritus badge,

Gerald Dobson became the fourth Scoutmaster of the Troop in 2002 and served through 2008. Scoutmaster Gerald Dobson first became involved with Troop 465 when the first of his three sons joined the troop in 1982.

Mike Pellegrino became the fifth Scoutmaster serving through 2012.

In 2013 Mike Lamanac became the sixth Scoutmaster serving through 2015.

In 2016 Ronald Clay Limbaugh, Jr. ('91) became the seventh Scoutmaster. Limbaugh earned his Eagle in 1991 (#27) under George Lingefelt. Scoutmaster Limbaugh is the first 465 Eagle Scout to become the Troop Scoutmaster.

5.8 Family Auxiliary

The Family Auxiliary is a way for other parents and family members to get involved without having to become a registered member of the Troop or BSA. The Family Auxiliary meets monthly, on the 2nd Monday of the month to share ideas, assist in troop function planning and help clean the Scout Center.

In years past, the Family Auxiliary has provided new ideas and much needed support that has helped our Troop to become the organization that it has become today.

If you wish to help, but do not feel that you can provide the time and dedication required to be a Committee member or Assistant Scoutmaster, please join the Family Auxiliary to assist with additional needs of the Troop.

5.9 Parents

No scout can join the troop without bringing his parent(s) to meet the scoutmaster first. Parents are told this is a family organization and are encouraged to participate in some manner.

5.10 Grandparents

Grandparents have helped the Troop over the years. Some of the Grandparents include John Ballard, George Lingefelt, Marvin Herrington, Richard Smith, Craig Sollenberger, Lynn Sewell, and Dan Warner.

6.0 Scout Ranks

The rank records for the 653 Scouts presented below is for the highest rank attained and does not count the ranks below the highest attained. See Figure 6 for the 1963 Rank Advancement Poster. See Table 6 for rank totals. See Section 17 for a list of individuals who have been in the troop. If you count the ranks obtained on their way to their highest rank than the totals would be 1787 rank awards.

Again let me remind you that these rank records came from the annual recharter rosters which listed the highest rank obtain in a given year and that scout may often have obtained additional rank(s) the following year but dropped out before the next recharter thus we do not have an accurate count. If we had all the information the numbers would be higher for Tenderfoot through Life ranks. Figures 6.8.A to 6.8.D shows the Court of Honors.

New Eagle Scout honored

By Daniel Schechner

Tribune Staff Writer

Like father, like son. After years of being prepared, a Hickory Flat youngster achieved the Boy Scouts highest honor.

On Dec. 8 at the Union Hill Community Center, Justin Mitchell became the 35th and newest Eagle Scout of Hickory Flat Boy Scout Troop 465.

An honor in and of itself, Mitchell's achievement is all the more remarkable when one considers that Justin, son of Eagle Scout Jack Mitchell, received the award from both the same troop and the same Scoutmaster as did his father, nearly 24 years ago.

He is the first Scout ever, in the Atlanta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, to boast such an accomplishment.

"It was a big relief getting (the award)," said the 18-year old Mitchell, a Canton resident and senior at Cherokee High School. "It was special to me, and my dad was real proud."

Both Mitchells received their awards from longtime Scoutmaster George Lingefelt, who has been with the troop for 32 of its 34 years in existence.

Mitchell began his quest for the prestigious Eagle Scout award, of which just 2 percent of all Boy Scouts are ever fortunate enough to receive, at the age of 10. He received his first and most memorable honor, that of Scout, shortly thereafter.

Before he could receive the honor of Eagle Scout however, Mitchell had to complete an individual project, followed by an inquiry by the Board of Review to ensure that Mitchell had accomplished what was expected of him.

For his particular project, Mitchell chose to repair and restore the Hickory Flat Historical Cemetery, including the replacement of approximately 125 permanent headstones and the construction of a memorial plaque for unmarked grave sites.

The National Boy Scout office in Irving, Texas does not track the sort of history made by Jack and Justin Mitchell. According to National spokesman John Dalrymple however, such an occurrence has never before been recorded.

"When you think about a father and son growing up in the same community, and having the same scoutmaster, that's pretty rare," said Richard Smith, Advancement Chairman for Troop 465. "Then, when you consider receiving the honor of Eagle Scout from the same man, it is extremely unusual."

Mitchell plans on furthering his training with the Boy Scouts, hoping to become an assistant scoutmaster.

7.0 Activities

The troop enjoys a variety of activities such as hiking, backpacking, camping, canoeing, rappelling, capture the flag games, orienteering, caving, community service, and many other activities.

7.1. Summer Camps

The first two years 1963 and 1964 the troop held its own summer camp at Lake Winfield Scott.

The next six years the troop attended Bert Adams Scout Reservation in Covington, Ga. for summer camp.

In 1971, the troop again held its own summer camp at the Lake Allatoona Council Scout Camp.

In 1972 and 1973 summer camp was held at Cox's Lake on Earney Road.

In 1974 and 1975 the troop held summer camp on the south side of Crowe's Lake, located off Roper road. The site was named Equa-V-Dali (Cherokee for big water) by Eagle Scout and Assistant Scoutmaster Billy Jarrard ('68). His mother, Barbara, designed a camp patch. It was used for several years until the supply was exhausted and no more were made.

In 1976 Jerry and Susan Crowe invited us to camp on their side of the lake. The troop gladly accepted, and moved. We held summer camp there until 1986. Assistant Scoutmasters, John Ballard, Jerry McClure ('72), Ron Howard and Billy Jarrard ('68) built a 10' X 16' cabin, originally designed as their sleeping quarters, in 1978. We added on to the building three more times: first, increasing the size of the front porch and creating a kitchen; next we added a storage room and increased the kitchen size, adding a sink. The old fishing shack from the south side was given to us by the new owners and we drug it over the dam and erected it on the west side of the cabin for Jr. Staff use. The next big build was a deck on the south side, the length of the original building. A full staircase was added here and the original three steps were removed from the front. Jack Mitchell ('73) designed and built a septic system for the sink.

In 1987, summer camp was held at Bert Adams Scout Reservation.

In 1988 and 1989, the troop returned to Crowe's Lake for summer camp.

In 1990 and 1991 the troop attended the AAC Woodruff Scout Reservation in Blairsville.

In 1992, we returned to Crowe's Lake. A new gable roof was built adding overhead storage and doing away with the shed roofs. In 1993 Equa-V-Dali was renamed Camp George, in honor of Scoutmaster George Lingefelt. 1993 was our last outing at Crowe's Lake.

Troop summer camps of 2002 and 200, were held at Camp 175, located on Lake Allatoona.

For 2004 through 2007 the troop again attended summer camp at Woodruff Scout Reservation.

In 2008 the troop was granted the use of property, in the Salacoa Valley, near Waleska, Ga., belonging to the Dr. James Funk family. The site was promptly named Camp George and enjoyed a nine year run there.

In 2017, the troop went out of the area to the Northeast Georgia Council Camp Rainey Mountain, in the northeast Georgia mountains, near Clayton Ga.

In 2018, the troop returned to Camp George, in the Salacoa Valley.

For 2019 the troop plans on attending Camp Daniel Boone in Canton, North Carolina.

Some of the years, other troops joined our troop at Equa-V-Dali and the original Camp George at Crowes Lake. A scout can earn several merit badges at our own summer camps because of the number of merit badge councilors registered with Troop 465.

See Table 7.1 for a list of summer camp locations.

More than 32 Boy Scouts from Troop 465 and 28 counselors spent June 14-20 at Camp Equi V Dali, earning a total of 168 Merit Badges in subjects ranging from pioneering to canoeing. Parents were invited on Thursday night to enjoy hamburgers and hot dogs before the traditional Aquatics Night.

Patrols were pitted against one another vying for first place in the dry leaf race, canoe race, and relay race, where they must canoe, row, run and swim, plus the ever popular greased watermelon contest.

A covered dish dinner was held Saturday after breaking camp, followed by a Court of Honor when the Communications Class handed out Merit Badges and Rank Awards. John Ballard, assistant scoutmaster and Scoutmaster of the Week, presented George Lingefelt his 50-Miler patch, which he earned by hiking 50 miles in five consecutive days and completing eight hours of trail work.

Eagle Patrol was awarded a first place ribbon for excellence in all-round scouting proficiency. Daniel Byrd was named Most Improved Scout, Justin Milam was Scout of the Week, and Wil Morgan was selected to receive the Hans Priegel Memorial Award.

Scouts work on first aid techniques at camp.

Adam Smith will be a senior at Sequoyah High School this fall. This summer he was an Eagle Scout in the Soviet Union. One of the souvenirs he brought home was a Russian Republic flag. Like the national flag of the Soviet Union, it comes with a hammer and sickle, but a blue shaft sets it apart. Smith said he returned with more respect for the people of the Soviet Union.

Local Eagle Scout one of sixteen U.S. scouts to camp with Soviet 'scouts' on shores of the Black Sea

By Betsy Bean
Special to the Citizen

An Eagle Scout from Hickory Flat was one of 16 scouts in the U.S. to participate last month in an exchange program with Scouting's equivalent in the Soviet Union, The Young Pioneers.

Adam Smith, 17, recently returned to Cherokee County after spending nearly a month in the Soviet Union.

The director of the Young Pioneers, which has 75 million coed members, instigated the exchange program because he wants to create a scouting-type alternative to the only youth group in the Soviet Union, said scouting officials.

The trip, which lasted from July 5 through 20, included a 12-hour flight to Moscow, two days of sightseeing and then on to a Young Pioneers camp for six days on the northern shores of the Black Sea.

"It was beautiful, with 2,500-foot mountain ranges all around and coming right down to the water," said Adam.

More than 40,000 boys and girls from the Soviet Union and the United States as well as European countries were divided up into 10 smaller camps of 4,000 to 5,000 each. Split up into four different rooms with only two interpreters among them required the Americans to frequently resort to sign language.

"We communicated pretty well," Adam said of day-to-day communication needs, and with the aid of interpreters, they were able to have more in-depth conversations about the profound changes taking place behind the eroding Iron Curtain.

"They are real impatient. They want all the changes to occur now all at once," the Russians told Adam. "People really want to improve the country."

Adam, who has been in scouting for seven years, was one of 16 boys chosen in May from the 13-county Atlanta area council and the Chicago area council. After the initial application process, which required those interested to submit their back

American and Japanese Scouting begin international friendship program

BSA Chief Scout Executive Jere B. Ratcliffe and Japanese Prime Minister Ryutaro Hashimoto kicked off a new Boy Scouts of Nippon and Boy Scouts of America Friendship Program at an event in Tokyo in March. The program consists of a series of five two-week visits to Japan by 30 different American Scouts and leaders.

The first group traveled to Japan in March and included Eagle Scouts from each BSA region. In addition to educational tours throughout the country, they joined Ratcliffe for the program's opening at "Fuji Scout Day." (Fuji Scouts in Japan are the equivalent of BSA Eagle Scouts.)

In August, Scouts and leaders from BSA councils with active Urban Emphasis programs visited, touring the country and participating in activities at Japan's national jamboree.

Other groups visiting Japan include special-needs Scouts in August 1999, Venturers in August 2000, and a yet-to-be-determined group in 2001.

The Atlanta Area Council is coordinating the Friendship Program. Participating councils are selected, based on prior involvement with international events, by the International Division and each group's corresponding BSA national division.

The program was created in response to a joint message by President Bill Clinton and Japanese Prime Minister Hashimoto at their 1996 meeting in Tokyo, calling for efforts to promote international understanding.

Shrine to bravery

Many flock to the Georgia National Cemetery dedication

By Katie Fallon
Cherokee Tribune Staff Writer

Although the ceremony started out under a sweltering sun, the crowd nonetheless braved the heat Sunday to attend the official dedication of the Georgia National Cemetery.

The 775-acre site in Sutailee was donated by the late Atlanta native and World War II veteran Scott Hudgens and offers visitors multiple scenic views of both the Blue Ridge Mountains and Lake Allatoona.

Phase one of construction covers 110 acres of the site and will include 29,000 gravesites, 3,000 columbaria niches, 765 in-ground garden niches for cremated remains and a garden for scattering ashes.

Cemetery Director Sandy Beckley said phase one of the site's construction should be complete by the spring of 2007. She said eventually, the $28 million cemetery will provide a final resting place for more than 38,000 veterans and their family members. The cemetery already is the final resting place for more than 180 veterans, who have been buried since it opened in late April.

The keynote speaker for the afternoon dedication was U.S. Secretary of Veterans Affairs R. James Nicholson. A 30-year Army veteran, Nicholson said the mere presence of those gathered at the dedication proves the significance of the contribution made by those who will come to rest in the cemetery.

American Legion Ninth District Commander Charlie Tucker of Woodstock salutes the flag during the pledge of allegiance at the dedication ceremony for the Georgia National Cemetery in Sutailee on Sunday. The $28 million cemetery eventually will be the final resting place for 38,000 veterans and their family members. More than 180 veterans have been buried there since the cemetery opened in late April.

"We are gathered in a shrine to the measure of the bravery in this field of immortality," Nicholson said. "We who are here should feel humbled to dedicate to the memories of the men and women who stood for freedom in war and those who stood in peace with that uniform on willing to be engaged in war and all to whom we owe an eternal debt of gratitude."

Nicholson said because more and more veterans are passing away every day — about 1,800 daily — it is particularly important to have sites like the Georgia National Cemetery where heroes of the armed forces can be laid to rest.

"It is quite another thing to stand under the Georgia sun and listen to the sharp crack of rifles and the haunting solo of a bugler's 'Taps' as an everyday citizen who once wore the uniform of his country is laid to rest," Nicholson said. "If our national cemeteries are accurate gauges of our devotion to the selfless sacrifices to those who have worn the uniform, then we Americans can be justifiably proud as a nation for our sympathy, respect and loyalty to our departed citizen soldiers."

Pete Wheeler, the commissioner of the Georgia Department of Veterans Service, also made remarks at the Sunday dedication and in particular, noted the generous contribution of Hudgens. Calling Hudgens a "great American," Wheeler said Hudgens' first contribution to his country was his World War II service when he participated in the D-Day landing on Normandy, a date whose 62nd anniversary was celebrated Tuesday.

Wheeler said Hudgens originally came to him and said he had a vision to create a space for a national cemetery much like the cemetery in Normandy what overlooks the French coast.

Hudgens did donate all 775 acres of land the new cemetery sits on to the Veterans Administration. Wheeler, though, said he had one regret.

"We regret very much that our friend Mr. Hudgens did not live to see this cemetery completed" Wheeler said. "I have a feeling that Scott is looking down smiling right now as we dedicate this beautiful cemetery."

In his closing remarks, Nicholson said the Georgia National Cemetery was the newest jewel in the crown of honor that America places so firmly on the heads of its defenders.

"It is our sworn duty to never forget their service and to honor their gift of freedom," Nicholson said.

The Georgia National Cemetery will serve the burial needs of veterans and their immediate families for the next 50 years. The cemetery will eventually include 16 interment areas, three committal shelters, a scattering garden and a public information center.

Those eligible for burial in the cemetery include any active duty member of the armed forces who served honorably at the time of their death, any veteran discharged other than dishonorably, reservists and National Guard members who were entitled to retired pay at the time of their death or those who would have if not under the age of 60, and spouses and minor children of service members and eligible veterans.

It took 19 months to complete, cost $14.9 million and will house 91 full-time employees in its 135,000 square feet. The new Cherokee County Justice Center was dedicated and opened to the public during a ceremony Friday afternoon.

Commissioners John Brandenburg, Dr. Rebecca Ray, Gil Howard and J.J. Biello, along with residents and other elected officials from Cherokee County and the cities that are within its borders, attended the dedication.

"This is a great day for Cherokee County and the City of Canton, said Commission Chairman Brandenburg. "I believe we've come a long ways since we had the ground breaking on Dec. 16, 1992, in a cold rain storm.

"Since January, 1991, this courthouse, if it hasn't dominated all of your commissioner's thoughts and efforts, it has sure taken a big part of them. [The courthouse] was one of the first things we began to consider when we took office in 1991."

Brandenburg recognized the contractor, architects and county employees who were instrumental in the completion of the structure during his brief speech, and explained how the building is being paid for—through the one-cent sales tax option.

"When the last penny of sales tax is collected, this building will be paid off," Brandenburg said. "We'll have our debt paid off in about two more years."

He then turned the ceremony over to Boy Scout Troop 465 of Hickory Flat which handled the flag raising ceremony.

Rev. Sanford Willard, pastor of the Methodist Church located on the property when it was closed, gave the invocation.

Commissioner Howard made the closing remarks before the open house began.

"No matter how much we, as commissioners, saw the need for this courthouse, no matter how much we wanted to build it, we could not have done it alone, he said. "It was only with the help and support of the people of Cherokee County that this courthouse is here today. If it wasn't for that help, if it wasn't for that trust, if it wasn't for that support, we would be standing here in a vacant parking lot."

Howard said there are eight courtrooms in the building and there are 25,000 square feet allocated for future expansion. Construction started in January 1993 and was completed in August of this year.

County officially unveils Justice Center to public

By Mike Herring

Tribune Staff Writer

CANTON — After more than a year-and-a-half of assembly, the eagerly awaited Justice Center was unveiled Friday and officially presented to residents of Cherokee County at dedication ceremonies for the new government facility.

Mother Nature threatened to steal the county's spotlight — much as it had at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the Justice Center in December 1992 — but threatening clouds soon made way for intense sunshine.

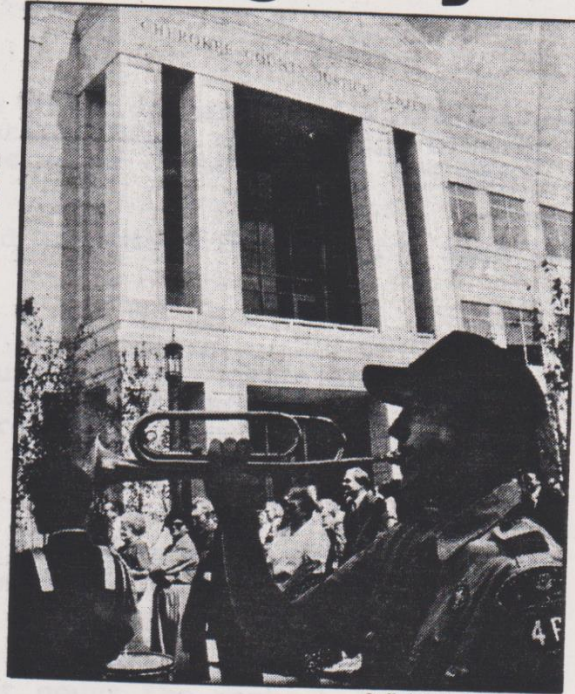

"This is a great day for Cherokee County," said County Commission Chairman John Brandenburg. "We've come a long way since the cold rainstorm of December 16, 1992."

The 142,000-square-foot Justice Center was paid for by a 1 percent local option sales tax. The facility contains eight courtrooms and officially opened for business Aug. 29 but underwent its coming-out party Friday.

The facility will also house the following former old County Courthouse inhabitants: the Superior Court Clerk's Office, the District Attorney's Office, the Solicitor's Office, the Magistrate's Office, the Probate Court Office, the Probation Office, Pre-trial Services, the County Law Library, the office of State and Juvenile Court Judge C.J. Gober and the offices of Superior Court Judges Frank Mills, Richard Gault and Michael Roach. "I'm speechless," said Ewald Karasch of Woodstock as he toured the building. "You don't expect something like this for such a small town. I love the woodworking. It's amazing craftsmanship."

The Sequoyah High School marching band and the Cherokee High School jazz ensemble entertained the nearly 400 visitors prior to the open house. Boy Scout Troop 465 concluded the ceremonies by raising the state flag, a replica of an 1831 American flag — the year Cherokee County was established — and a present-day American flag which had formerly flown over the Capitol in Washington, D.C.

"When I grow old I would like to bring my grandchildren to this grand courthouse and show them what we accomplished," said Western District Commissioner Gil Howard before opening the Justice Center for public inspection. "And by we, I don't mean the commissioners, I mean the people of Cherokee County."

Though most people touring the Justice Center marveled at the esthetics of the building's interior, corporate attorney Karl Duff of Canton admired the facility for functional reasons.

"I'm quite impressed," said Duff, a life-long Cherokee County resident. "It's well laid out and well organized. And the security is vastly improved. Compared to the old County Courthouse — which I used to practice in — well, there's no comparison."

Others toured the Justice Center as one might a prospective new home. Every floor of the building was given the once-over with most coming to the same conclusion.

"It's a beautiful new building," said Edith Karasch of Woodstock. "I hope I never have to go to court here, though."

The annual award, presented at the troop's summer camp Court of Honor, was first awarded to Hans Priegel in 1989, then known as the "Rookie of the Year" Award. The award was renamed in memory of Hans, who was killed last year in an automobile accident.

Wil, a new scout with Troop 465, was chosen for the honor for his demonstration of leadership skills and "true Scout spirit."

Boy Scout Troop 465 and students from Dean Rusk Middle School recently celebrated Earth Day by sprucing up the school's grounds.

The day's activities were dedicated to the memory of their friend and fellow scout, Hans Priegel, who was struck by a car and killed last November after attending a basketball game at the school.

Led by scoutmaster George Lingefelt and assistant principal Johnny Young, the participants divided into work details to tackle several projects, including landscaping and planting at the school sign, main entrance and cafeteria; trimming trees and shrubs; rototilling and mulching; and seeding and placement of ground cover material. Students planted a tree in Hans' memory at the entrance to the parking lot. One student commented about the bonding that occurred between adults and teens in the group.

"It makes me feel good to see people, young and old, working together to help things go on living," said Ricci Butt, eighth-grader.

The group also cleaned up trash around the Dean Rusk and Hickory Flat Elementary School campuses.

Scouts, students and their parents provided materials and equipment for the landscaping project, aided by a large donation of bedding plants from Mann's Nursery in Hickory Flat. Pine bark, used for ground cover, was provided by the Mulch Man on Arnold Mill Road in Woodstock.

CANTON — Three dedicated volunteers received the 1992 Lamar Haley Community Service Award presented by the Canton Rotary Club Jan. 21 for outstanding contributions to the community.

Lee Roy Tippens, Fred Haley and George Lingefelt were recipients of the prestigious awards presented by the club at its regular meeting at Pine Crest Restaurant in Holly Springs.

"This meeting is to celebrate the recognition of people who give many of their years to the community through their service," said Rep. Garland Pinholster, R-Canton. "We are a community of people who look after people, and I am proud to be a part of Cherokee County."

Beacon of tolerance

■ Tippens, a Canton resident and retired public school administrator, was one of three to receive the Canton Rotary's Lamar Haley Community Service Award for his outstanding contributions to Cherokee County.

Tippens served for 36 years as school principal at public schools in Cherokee County.

Educated at Reinhardt College, North Georgia College and Emory University, where he obtained a master's degree, Tippens met his wife, Faye, at a Reinhardt College debate. On Oct. 31, the couple will celebrate 50 years of marriage.

Mrs. Tippens said that their family lives and working lives have always been spent together.

Mrs. Tippens said that she has worked wherever Lee Roy worked in order to be near him.

Although retired since 1982, Tippens is still called in to take over the administration of various elementary schools in Cherokee County when a principal is absent.

Tippens was a teacher for five years and a principal for 36 years.

He served three years in the U.S. Army Air Force, where among other things, he taught illiterate soldiers to read and write.

His life has been devoted to the youth of the community. Rotarian

Coy Free said in presenting the award to Tippens. His many years as a Scoutmaster, service on the District Boy Scout Committee and 21 years of Sunday School teaching go hand in hand with his 55 years of service in education, Free said.

During the entire time, he was constantly working for the community through the Rotary Club of Canton, where he is past president, and a recipient of the Coxy Award as Rotarian of the Year.

Tippens was the first chairman of the Historical Society of Cherokee County.

The educator was chosen for his exemplary service to the children of Cherokee County, outstanding and dedicated service to the black community of the north Canton area and for years of service devoted to the North Canton Baptist Church, Free said.

Tippens was a true beacon of tolerance before any laws required it, Free said.

Others could fill the role of school administrator, but no one could take the place of Lee Roy Tippens in the hearts of the students, Free said.

Tippens said, as he thanked the members of the Rotary, that he wanted to give a great deal of the credit for his success to the dedicated teachers and other staff members who did the work and to the people at the county office who supported his efforts.

Helped shape leaders

■ Another Lamar Haley Community Service Award was given to Lingefelt of Woodstock, a local barber and dedicated Scout leader for 27 years.

For more than 40 years, Lingefelt, has spent the bulk of his non-working hours with the youth of Cherokee County. He has been a Scoutmaster of Troop 465 for 27 years, a church choir director for 30 years and a youth advisor at his church for 40 years.

"I am thankful to have played such an important part in the lives of these young people," Lingefelt said. "I have enjoyed working to teach the youth of this community the importance of character, citizenship and personal develop-

"His methods of molding and shaping have helped to promote leadership in the young men of our community," said Horace Richards, the Rotarian who presented the award to Lingefelt.

Lingefelt has also gone to neighboring counties as an uncompensated church music teacher for about 30 years.

His leadership as a Scoutmaster is regularly cited as an example to emulate by Boy Scout District and Council leaders.

Some of the previous Boy Scout awards he has received include Silver Beaver, District Award of Merit, Good Shepherd Award, Scouters Key and Scoutmasters Award of Merit.

Michael Lingefelt ('67) Two Lives

While attending the Cherokee High School band camp, in Tiger, GA, and being in charge of the waterfront, he rescued 2 boys from their capsized canoe. One of the boys went under with Michael several times, but he was successful in saving both boys.

Jerry McClure ('72) One Life

When his sister ingested poison tablets, he administered first aid. He induced vomiting, and kept her awake on the way to R. T. Jones Memorial Hospital (now known as Northside-Cherokee Hospital) by holding her head out of the car window. Jerry received no National Council medal, but did receive the Lewis H. Beck Medal for Lifesaving from the Atlanta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Louie Jones One Life

While with the Troop on the Etowah River, Louie rescued a boy who had jumped from a rope swing into the river without his life vest secured. HICKORY FLAT BOY SCOUT LOUIE JONES RECEIVES MERITORIOUS SERVICE AWARDS

Assistant Scoutmaster Jerry McClure Presents Awards In Recognition Of Saving Another Scout's Life

Fast Swim Earns Award For Heroic Boy Scout

Louie Jones, member of Hickory Flat Boy Scout Troop 465, was awarded the Boy Scouts of America Lewis Beck Award and the Meritorious Service Award for heroically rescuing a younger scout from the Etowah River during a rafting trip last August.

At the conclusion of the troop's annual rafting trip down the Etowah River, a group of scouts began swinging over the river by a tree, according to Ruth Henson, elected to drive the scout shuttle bus from the ending of the trip in Ball Ground.

Dennis Freeman swung from high above the water and landed on his stomach in on the water. Breathless and stunned, he finally surfaced but went under again, gasping and struggling, recalls his mother, also an observer. Each time he surfaced, he was farther downstream and caught in the current.

Louie Jones dove into the water and swam to Freeman, "faster than I could imagine possible," Mrs. Henson said. Using the cross-chest method of rescue, taught Jones by assistant scoutmaster Jerry McClure, Jones was able to bring Freeman to the edge of the river where he was determined to be fine, but very shaken.

During the rescue another member of the troop, Andy Wick, tossed a life jacket to Jones, but the jacket fell short so Wick swam out, picked up the jacket and carried it to Jones and Freeman.

Freeman's chest was sore for two or three days, his mother reported, and it actually looked as though something had scraped it.

Jones received the awards at the troop's Court of Honor April 9 from assistant scoutmaster McClure, also a recipient of the awards a few years ago.

Wesley Wilson One Life

Saved a girl who waded too deep into Lake Allatoona.

Gordon Smith One Life

Wesley Williams ('83) One Life

While in a shopping mall in Atlanta, Wes observed a man in a car slumped over the steering wheel. Checking on the man, he realized he was unconscious, and simultaneously gave the man mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and called 911. The man was awake and breathing when the medics arrived.

Buckley Wheeler ('03) One Life

When his father severely cut his hand while using a power saw, Buckley stopped the bleeding and called 911. He received the Medal of Merit in 2000.

Billy Ballard ('06) One life

Saved his father during a horrendous insulin reaction. He was awarded The Certificate of Merit.

Will Absher ('10) Two lives (2010)

Will and his father came home one night to hear screams and splashing in the lake behind their house. Two young adults had capsized their canoe and were flailing helplessly in the icy water. Without hesitation, Will grabbed his canoe and made his way to the lake while his father drove around to the other side. Will rowed out and towed the two people to the opposite shore, where Will and his father helped them get warm while the paramedics were on their way. When the paramedics arrived, they credited Wil with saving the lives of both people, stating if Will arrived even a few minutes later, both victims would have perished. Wil was awarded the Medal of Heroism Award.

Dominick Pellegrino ('09) One Life (2010)

Saved someone from choking at a Jamboree Troop meeting. Dominick was awarded the Medal of Merit.

Nicholas Wagner ('17) One Life (2015)

Administered CPR to a man who suffered a heart attack at a local restaurant. Nicholas was awarded the Medal of Merit.

Jacob Mavromatidis and Cannon Thompson One Life (2017)

During Summer Camp 2017, these two Scouts showed an exceptional degree of character well above that expected of boys of their age and experience. The actions performed by these two Scouts were instrumental in, possibly, saving another Scout's life and getting the Scout the help that he needed. Because of their thoughtfulness, quick thinking and positive action, they were awarded the Medal of Merit.

13. Troop Memories

Some of the fond troop memories are provided below for your reading enjoyment.

Charter Scout and Assistant Scoutmaster John Ballard is known for his campsite cooking gear inspections. If the pan was determined to be greasy or dirty he would send it flying into the nearby woods. The patrol members would have to retrieve it, clean it again, then submit it to John Ballard for a dreaded re-inspection. (The patrol site should have been designated as a hard hat area!!) John Ballard suffered the results of dishes not properly washed and rinsed at the Troop's first stay at Camp Bert Adams for the third summer camp. By the way, he was the Patrol Leader during the week and responsible for the cleanliness of the dishes. He wanted no Scout to suffer as he did for a day.

Scoutmaster George Lingefelt would often start his sentences with the words "Now Boys..." or "Boys what is wrong with this.." and then use it as a teachable moment?

"Now boys, did you learn something?..did you have fun?"

While Scott McElroy was in Germany he saw a Troop 465 Calendar hanging on the wall.

At a winter campout attended by Adam Warner ('92) behind Scoutmaster George Lingefelt's house the boys started a large fire in a ditch which was called "Dante Inferno"

At a canoe trip to Tugalo Lake and Chattooga River Lynn Sewell drove the bus and Dan Warner and others attended the canoe paddle across Tugalo Lake and up the Chattooga River to a campsite. It was a place with many snakes sunning themselves on the rocks and in our campsite in the morning. The adults and boys enjoyed body surfing down the rapids of the river. The boys enjoyed jumping off the bank into a deep part of the river unfortunately Adam Warner ('92) jumped slightly out of the planned area and hit his knee on an underwater rock creating a minor injury causing the adults to briefly wonder how we would get him to a medical place since it would involve rowing several miles back to the bus but fortunately that was not needed.

Adam Smith ('87) was known to carry extra candy bars and snacks on backpacking trips which after arriving at the campsite he could sell them to the other boys at a high price since there were no other stores at the campsite.

Adam Warner ('91) on a non-scouting canoeing trip to Ellijay had borrowed Adam Smith's ('87) canoe which had air bags in it for river canoeing but it had been stored near the wood in his back yard. Adam Warner ('91) secured the canoe upside down on top of his car and was traveling up Interstate 575/GA HWY 515 when he was disturbed by what he thought was a loose rope hitting his window so he rowed down his window and grabbed what he thought was a loose rope but was actually a snake, upon noticing it he quickly threw it out of his car. It landed on the windshield of the GA State Patrol Car following him. Adam pulled over at the next gas station and did the GA State Patrol car who came over to him and said "you scared the _ _ _ _ out of me". Everyone laughed and went on their way.

15. Non-scouting events

15.1 Wilderness Survival – 1993 Blizzard of the Century

In March 1993 a few older boys, Adam Smith ('87), Chris Luke ('95), Adam Warner ('92), Ryan Smith ('94), and Matt McCoy with adult Richard Smith, wanted to try some weekend snow camping. They made the hike a personal thing among friends, not as scouting event. The trip occurred during what turned into, and was called, the Blizzard of the Century. They went to Springer Mountain shelter on Friday evening March 12, 1993 and woke up to almost three feet of snow. They remained there until they were picked up by Army Rangers, from Camp Frank D. Merrill, in a Blackhawk helicopter on Thursday March 18, 1993. They were all fine and have many stories to tell about the trip. Karen Berger, an author, met them and promised to include them in her book, An American Pilgrimage, From Georgia to Maine on the Appalachian Trail, published by Harmony Books, 1-800-733-3000. She remarked they were the best equipped group she had seen. The Atlanta CBS affiliate, Channel 5 WAGA News, carried daily stories from Monday March 15, 1993 to Thursday March 18, 1993 on the young men. The Channel 5 news story was carried on CNN.

The boys and their families were invited back for 5th Ranger Training Battalion Open House and Training Demonstration on July 31, 1993.

15.2 Appalachian Trail Thru Hikers

In 2018 Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Smith completed the entire Appalachian Trail. In a previous year he had completed about half of the trail.

16 Honorary Boy Scouts (Girls- Sisters - Daughters)

Over the years being a family oriented Scout troop we have some of our daughters that came along with their Scout leaders on many of the activities including camping. Some such as my daughter Rachel Warner, along with Jennifer and Tracy Sewell, Kelly Smith, Emily Mitchell just to name a few had more camping nights than some of the scouts so we considered them as honorary Boy Scouts.

At the 1975 Summer Camp which was the second summer camp at Crowes Lake, Mr. Crowes School class Girls Flag Corp camped separately from the boys but participated in the Summer Camp merit badge classes.
